The remarkable performance of Dan O'Connor, the big guard from Boston College prep, has been the feature of the Hilltoppers' work this past week. He is now putting up such a scrap that it is considered likely that he will start the Princeton contest at left guard. Frank Green was supposed to have it cinched, but when he got up against the Bostonian he found his hands full. The struggle is still going on in the daily practice at the Hilltop, with O'Connor having a slight lead over the former Lehigh man.

Liang has been in this country about a year and to use Newberry's words, takes to athletics like a duck to water. The "Chink," as they call him out Connecticut avenue way, is popular with the boys and is making a strong bid for an end position. He never saw football played until he came out this fall, but in the few day's practice looks like a real player.

Dartmouth Team Is Wanting for Stars

Ghee, Crack Quarterback, Will Not Be With Big Green Football Team This Season-Whitney Is Also Absent.

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 22.—The Dartmouth outlook is in nowise bright. The most brillant stars of its great 1914 equals in their particular department. South, and Hitchcock, substitutes last year, and Tarrant, Christa-tutes last year, and Tarrant, Christa-tutes last year, and Tarrant, Christaquarterbacks in the history of the college game, is gone-and no one who has come forward so far seems able to fill even part of the gap he left. Ghee was a wonderful all-round man, and Dartmouth will feel his loss more keenly mouth will feel his loss more keenly than that of any other man—or any other two, in fact.

Whitney, the great halfback, is another absentee. He was one of the heaviest scorers in football last year, a line smasher with few equals and a wonder at circling the ends. Curtis and Murdock, who were his associates in performing back-field chores, also were graduated in June. Cannon and Tuck, substitute halfbacks; Winship, Perry, Ellms, and Redfield, ends; Milmaro, center; Childs, guard, and Cumiskey, substitute quarterback—they, toe, have gone forever from the Dartmouth line-up.

"When one loses a galaxy of stars such as Dartmouth has lost, it surely can be considered a terrific blow," said Cavanaugh. "However, what's gone is gone. Our eyes are on the future. We have left enough seasoned men to form the framework for our 1915 eleven, and who knows but what a few of the youngsters will develop into real stars before the season is well under way?"

A new center must be developed. Gile, the 1914 substitute, has been showing up exceedingly well and seems a fixture in the varsity line-up. Proctor and Gustafson are the sophomore candidates. They are a bit too green to merit varsity consideration.

The fight for the end jobs is a hot one, with the selection narrowing down to five men-Ponder, Gibson, Eastman, Emery and York-all substitutes in 1914. Healey and Dussosoit have shown up best.

Gerrish, who played a good game as substitute halfback last year, and Thick-scher, who "subbed" at full, probably will be regulars this year. However, another has shown himself to be in the class with his 1914 predecessor. youngsters will develop into real stars before the season is well under way?"

Spears, the 250-pound guard of last vear, is back and sure of his old job. Merrill, the other 1914 guard, probably will land the other guard position, although he is being forced to battle for the honor by Colby a 1914 substitute, and Cooley, Noyes, and Hull, who have come up from last year's freshman class.

TIGERS PREPARE FOR | YALE COACHES ARE GEORGETOWN GAME

PRINCETON, Sept. 22.-Coach Rush of Princeton, was hard at work yester day trying to develop some sort of a combination to send against George town on Baturday. For the better half champion: Johnny Dundee, one of the lightweight contenders: Frankie Callahan and Johnny Griffiths, Akron's star lightweight. Lowe will have his mage, and went at it again in the afternoon, under more favorable weather conditions. The afternoon scrimmage was by far the liveliest and hardest the third team. fought of the season, and lasted threequarters of an hour. It was preceded and Lowry played in the backfield on by a short blocking practice and general work-out.

No varsity selection has been made as yet and none has been attempted, but the coaches undoubtedly will have to settle on one combination after today's practice and work with that for beller or worse. It looks at present as though Glick will be used at quarter, although Ames has been running the so-called varsity in all the recent scrimmages. Ed Shea probably will be utilized at half instead of at end, which utilized at half instead of at end, which position he played last year and during his prep school days at Exeter. Billy Moore has shown up well and would surprise nobody by starting at the other half. Cyril Haas and Mathiasen appear to be the logical choices for fullback. On the line, Red Gennert appears to be a fixture at center, while Halsey, Bill Love and Lamb Heyniger undoubtedly will alternate in the guard positions. MacLean and Latrobe should be the starters at tackies.

AFTER IMPROVEMENT

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 22.-Head Coach Hinkey and his assistants expressed dissatisfaction with the work of the Yale varsity, second, and third teams after practice at Yale Field yesterday. The coaches declared the work of all their teams to be ragged. Legore punted well, as did Guernsey. Captain Wilson made two touchdowns, one against the second and one against the third teams, that being the only scoring of the afternoon's scrimmage.

The officials who have been chosen for the University of Maine game which is to be played in the Yale bowl on Saturday are Nate Tufts, referee: Bankart, umpire; E. L. King, extra official, and Bergen, linesman.
